MAKING IT EASY TO SUPPORT GOOD JOBS

LOS ANGELES | SAN FRANCISCO | WASHINGTON, D.C. | PHILADELPHIA

Sure, you've got your "sweet" holidays, but who needs a specific occasion to enjoy a chocolate bar, a lollipop or a handful of gourmet jelly beans? In addition to delighting eaters of all ages, genders, ethnicities and professions (OK, maybe not dentists), the candy you eat helps sweeten the economy, too. The confectionary industry employs more than 55,000 people, creating an additional seven jobs in related industries for every one job in candy-making while generating a direct economic impact of $35 billion. The sugary delicacies listed below are manufactured by employers who treat their workers fairly. Enjoy these or find your favorites at Labor411.org whenever you feel like a treat.
