

March Madness Munchies

Seedings have been assigned, brackets are filled out and nobody seems to care much about anything else. It must be March Madness, the college basketball tournament that spikes everybody's interest, from the most rabid fan to those who pick winners based on their favorite color. Wall-to-wall basketball is certainly an occasion for throwing a viewing party, so we've put together a list of snacks and drinks to make your get-together a slam dunk. Everything on this list is made by companies who treat their workers fairly and give them a voice on the job. Enjoy the madness and let's all hoop our way to a stronger America!
