LOS ANGELES – Labor 411 celebrates a “Decade of Making a Difference” with the release of its 2018 Ethical Consumer Guide to Washington DC. The 4th edition of Labor 411 DC features more than 10,001 ways that ethical consumers can shop their values and help support good middle class American jobs every time they open their wallets. Labor 411 is celebrating its 10th year, and also publishes ethical guidebooks for Los Angeles, San Francisco and Philadelphia with the inaugural New York City coming soon.

Labor 411 DC is produced in conjunction with the DC Metro Labor Council, AFL-CIO. The book is available at www.labor411.org or by calling 818-884-8966.

“Income inequality remains one of the greatest scourges of our country, and with the rights of working families under siege, we need to be supporting good jobs now more than ever,” said Cherri Senders, Founder and Publisher of Labor 411. “It has been an eventful 10 years, and I look forward to having Labor 411 lead the Ethical Consumer Movement into the next decade.

“Labor 411 is spearheading the Ethical Consumer Movement by showing individuals how to support businesses that treat their employees with the fairness and dignity we expect,” said Jackie Jeter, President of the DC Metropolitan Washington Labor Council. “Together, we can use our consumer power to keep and grow middle class jobs in our region.”

Labor 411’s mission is clear: By supporting businesses that treat their employees well with fair pay, good benefits and safe working conditions, we create a rising tide that lifts all boats. Senders has previously called for an ethical consumer movement in several op-eds, most recently published by the LA Daily News, Sacramento Bee, Huffington Post, and AlterNet.org.

Labor 411’s website (www.labor411.org) allows consumers to support living-wage companies in their communities and avoid retailers that do not treat their workers well. Labor 411 reaches millions of fans on Facebook each month.
