

THIS FATHER'S DAY, GIVE DAD THE TOOLS OF THE TRADE

Dads are often the builders, tinkerers or fixer-uppers of the households. This may not always be the case, but sometimes it is. So on Father's Day, why not give dad some new equipment (or upgrade his current supply) with some tools like the ones below which are made by companies that treat their workers fairly and give them a voice on the job. Look for the Made in the USA label which helps guarantee that you are supporting good middle class jobs. Dad will probably love his new tools, but just make sure he doesn't get right to work. Father's Day is also a day meant for relaxing, after all.
